

NoCable OTA Antenna Installation Kit

Model: NC-002-001

Kit Contents & Usage:

- Coaxial Surge Protector

- USAGE: Place the surge protector before the any device you would like to protect in the event of a lightning strike. While this device will help protect your TV, placing it before any DVR, converter box or amplifier will also help to protect those devices as well.
- INSTALL: This surge protect will attach to the other end of the coaxial cable coming from your antenna. The other end of the surge protector will then attach to either your preamplifier, a signal splitter, or some other device. Try to install the surge protector inside the home, and out of the elements.

- Flat Coaxial Cable

- USAGE: This 8-inch coaxial cable is flat between the connections, which will allow you to bring the signal from an outdoor antenna inside through a window. The coaxial cable is flat to let the window fully close.
- INSTALL: You will need two coaxial cables to use this flat one through a window. Attach two longer cables to either end of the flat cable. One will go outside your home to the antenna, and the other will be inside your home towards your TV.

- 4-way Signal Splitter

- USAGE: If your antenna's signal is powerful enough to be split between multiple TVs, this splitter will allow you to attach up to 4 TVs to the same incoming signal. If you are unsure if your antenna's signal can handle multiple TVs, there are a few things that can help:
  - Outdoor antennas typically can support more than 1 TV.
  - A preamplifier (not included) can sometimes provide enough of a signal boost to be split between multiple TVs.
- INSTALL: Attach the coaxial cable from the antenna to the IN port on the splitter. There will be (4) OUT ports, which can be ran to any TV via a separate coaxial cable.

- Female Coaxial Connector

- USAGE: Use this small adapter to combine two longer coaxial cables to extend the TV signal a longer distance.
